

| S.No | Title                                                                                                                                            | Author(s)                                                                        | Journal/Publisher                                     | Year | ISSN/ISBN                        |
|------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|------|----------------------------------|
| 1    | Wavecraft: The science of ships, seas and survival.                                                                                              | Capt. Pandian Mahadevan                                                          | Integrated Publication                                | 2025 | 978-93-5834-486-8                |
| 2    | Empirical study and machine learning prediction of tensile strength in 3D printed eco-friendly polylactic acid                                   | A. Balasuadhakar                                                                 | Progress in Rubber, Plastics and Recycling Technology | 2025 | 1477-7606                        |
| 3    | Trade Modern Indian Shipping Industry, Maritime Heritage                                                                                         | Madhuran. S, Capt. P. Rajendran                                                  | Chyren Publications                                   | 2025 | ISBN 9789371438339               |
| 4    | Integrating Machine Learning and Computational Intelligence for Green Manufacturing                                                              | A. Balasuadhakar                                                                 | IGI Global Scientific Publishing                      | 2025 | 10.4018/978-1-8979-8-3693-7974-5 |
| 5    | Sustainable Cooling Strategies in End Milling of AISI H11 Steel Based on ANFIS Model                                                             | Arumugam Balasuadhakar, Sundaresan Thirumalai Kumaran, Saood Ali                 | Machines                                              | 2025 | 10.1177/14777606251316030        |
| 6    | Experimental insights and Machine learning predictions on flexural strength of 3D-Printed Polylactic Acid                                        | J Nagarjun, N Saravanakumar, S Thirumalai Kumaran, A Anto Dilip, A Balasuadhakar | Surface Review and Letters                            | 2025 | 10.1142/S0218625X2550152         |
| 7    | Synthesis of Poly Functionalized Tricyclic Nitro Chromenopyrazole Frameworks Via Intramolecular Cycloaddition Reaction Derived From Nitroolefins | Senthil, D. Sujatha Krishna, K. Rajesh, N. Sivakumar                             | International Journal of Environmental Sciences       | 2025 | 2229-7359                        |

| S.No | Title                                                                                                                                              | Author(s)                                                                | Journal/Publisher                               | Year | ISSN/ISBN                                   |
|------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|------|---------------------------------------------|
| 8    | Biological applications antibacterial activity of Baylis-Hillman Adducts derived from benzoxepine derivatives                                      | Sandhyadevi Pushparaj, Vidya. A, Mohamed Haroon Basha. A, Sivakumar.N    | Journal of Neonatal Surgery                     | 2025 | Online2226-0439                         |
| 9    | The Evaluation Of Antifungal And Antioxidant Activity Of The Chromeno4,3-bPyrrole From Baylis-Hillman Adducts Derived From Nitro Olefins Compounds | S. Komathi, U.Kalpana, M. Selvarani, A. Senthil, K. Rajesh, N. Sivakumar | International Journal of Environmental Sciences | 2025 | 2229-7359                                   |
| 10   | Mathematical Modeling of Zika virus Transmission by Homotopy Perturbation method                                                                   | U. Kalpana                                                               | Tanz Research Journal                           | 2025 | 1869-7720                                   |
| 11   | Green Synthesis of Nanoparticles using Medicinal Plants---A Sustainable Approach with Multifunctional Application                                  | M. Kanimozhi, S. Nandhakumar                                             | Mahi Publication                                | 2025 | 978-63-6678-422-9                           |
| 12   | From folk medicine to pharmacology The journey of Indigofera aspalathoides vahl ex DC                                                              | M. Kanimozhi                                                             | Mahi Publication                                | 2025 | 978-63-6678-422-9                           |
| 13   | Engineering Geology                                                                                                                                | Dr. S. Subramanian                                                       | Alpha International Publication                 | 2025 | 978-93-7361-169-3                           |
| 14   | Proceedings of Fuzzy Fractional Factorial Design Based On Cut-Method Through Incomplete Block Design                                               | U. Kalpana, Mr. Pathalamuthu                                             | Proceedings                                     | 2025 | ISBN978-93-6290-237-5                   |
| 15   | Computational Modeling and Analysis of Host-Parasite Dynamics Using The Homotopy Analysis Method                                                   | Marimuthu, A                                                             | Computer Research and Development               | 2025 | July 20251000-1239volume 25 ISSUE 7 |

| S.No | Title                                                                                                            | Author(s)                                                  | Journal/Publisher                                                                                                            | Year  | ISSN/ISBN                                                                                              |
|------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 16   | A study on Thiourea phthalic acid single crystals with lacers                                                    | Dr.M.Sureshkumar                                           | DST SERB National conference on recent advances in Material science research NC RAMS-25                                      | 2025  |                                                                                                        |
| 17   | Application of MVDC in Large Ships for Weight Reduction and Voltage Stability                                    | M. Selva Rani                                              | Proceedings of AMET Global Maritime Summit 2025 - Sailing Towards Sustainability, Navigating the Future of Maritime Industry | 2025  | ISBN978-93-6290-481-2                                                                              |
| 18   | Total Quality Management Concepts and Industrial Case Studies                                                    | A. Balasuadhakar                                           | Lambert Academic Publisher                                                                                                   | 2024  | 978-620-8-01187-1                                                                                      |
| 19   | Strength of Materials                                                                                            | A. Balasuadhakar                                           | Scientific International Publishing House                                                                                    | 2024  | 978-93-6132-275-5                                                                                      |
| 20   | Green catalyst Synthesized From Biomass for Biodiesel Production                                                 | Dr. V. Amirthavalli                                        | Springer                                                                                                                     | 2024  | 978-981-97-2523-6                                                                                      |
| 21   | Understanding the nonlinear reactive transport model in porous catalysts                                         | D. Sujatha,A. Marimuthu                                | International Journal of Electrochemical Science                                                                             | 2024  | 1452-3981                                                                                              |
| 22   | Existence of approximate best proximity point of the triplets (q1;q2;q3) on g-metric spaces and its applications | D. Sujatha,S. R. Ananthalakshmi,and R. Theivaraman | Adv. Fixed Point Theory,                                                                                                     | 2025, | ISSN: 1927-6303https://doi.org/10.28919/afpt/9548 |